Benson Insists Policies Will Come to Pass

Hopes to Salvage Part of Program; Lots of Opposition

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Ezra Taft Benson, unfazed by a critical deluge from Bible-quoting Senators, today stoutly maintained Eisenhower administration farm policies "eventually" would come to pass.

But Chairman Allen Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Benson didn't stand a "ghost of a chance" of putting through his program at this session.

The agriculture secretary staked his hopes of salvaging some of the program on a promise not to slash farm price supports immediately to the new low sought by the administration. But he held out for "administrative discretion" in establishing new support levels in the future for each crop on individual "merits."

Benson now is required to support basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts and rice—at 75 to 90 per cent of parity. He came in for a roasting when he told the committee Friday he didn't "contemplate" cutting them all the way to the requested 60 per cent of parity.

"If you don't need it why do you ask for it?" Ellender asked. "You're going to use it."

At one point Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared: "You would be a lot more enlightening if your statement were just honest."

"There's nothing false about it," replied Benson.

Senator Doubts Sincerity
While discussing administration plans for cutting down federal farm credit funds, Humphrey told Benson: "Ask and you shall be forgiven."

Benson told Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) if there was anything "we can do to help your farmers we'll do it."

"Mr. Secretary," Symington said with a tight smile, "I think that is the first statement you've made in which I've detected a note of insincerity."

There was a hush in the committee room. Symington added from the bible:

"Every time, Moses, you strike the rock, my people are hurt."

Carbondale Men Plead Innocent to Counterfeit Charge

SPRINGFIELD — Francis W. Adams, 36, and Clifford P. Rowe, 22, both of Carbondale, pleaded innocent in Federal District Court Friday to charges of possession of counterfeit money and were held under $10,000 bonds.

Judge Charles G. Briggie did not immediately set a trial date.

The two men were arrested here Sunday when a state policeman noticed their car had only one license plate. He searched the car and found $2,340 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills.

Secret Service agents found another $8,000 in bogus bills in a safe deposit box at Marion which the men held under a fictitious name.

Adams is a printer and admitted when he was arrested that he made the money.

Chicago Law to Flush Out Slum Area Owners

CHICAGO — The Chicago City Council has passed an ordinance that will reveal the names of slum property owners in the city about April 30.

"It will remove the legal curtain that surrounds some slum owners," Building Commissioner George L. Ramsey said. Ramsey was not present at the city council session Friday, but his statement was read for him.

The ordinance will go into effect 90 days after its publication in the official journal.

It requires owners of buildings with three or more apartments to register with the city building department and to submit information about their property.

Beckman Gets Station Wagon To Catch Wright

Gets It from Egypt Republicans Last Night at Marion

SPRINGFIELD — State Rep. Louis E. Beckman today had a station wagon to help him meet Warren E. Wright's challenge to "try to catch up with me" in their race for the Republican nomination for state treasurer in the April 8 primary.

Beckman, Kankakee, was presented the station wagon by a group of southern Illinois Republican leaders at a dinner at Marion Friday night.

Wright issued his challenge and a blast at the leaders endorsing Beckman Friday when Wright filed his petitions for the nomination.

Charles Jean, Anna, GOP state central committeeman from the 25th District, presented the keys to the station wagon to Beckman for his use in the campaign. The vehicle was leased and will be returned by Beckman after the campaign.

Beckman has the backing of Gov. Stratton and the endorsement of the Cook County GOP organization for the treasurer nomination.

Wright, former state treasurer from Park Ridge, said Friday when he filed that he has "been shaking hands on all the main streets in Illinois" for months and that he will continue that type of campaign until the election. He challenged Beckman, who soon will start a tour of southern Illinois, to "try to catch up with me."

Air Lines Strike Set For Midnight Halted

CHICAGO — A strike against Western Airlines set for midnight tonight has been called off by the Air Lines Pilots Association, but the possibility of a walkout remains.

The pilots association said Friday night that it had agreed to postpone the strike after discussing the matter with the National Mediation Board.

"Further negotiations with the mediation board can't hurt anything," a spokesman for the union said. The walkout was called last Tuesday, following the breakdown of negotiations last December.

Union demands are pilots salaries equal to those of comparable airlines," the association said.

Three Boys Fined For Theft of Oil

Three Williamson county youths were fined $50 and costs by Saline County Judge Trafton Dennis this morning following their plea of guilty to a petty larceny charge.

The boys—Carl Rogers, John Dunnigan and Melvin Reed—were charged with stealing gas and oil from an oil field south of Galatia. Dunnigan and Reed were released by county authorities following payment of the fine. Rogers is being held until payment is made.

Hazel Anderson, 55, Taken by Death

Hazel Anderson, 55, husband of Mary Ann Anderson, who lived at 708 West Elm street, Harrisburg, died Friday afternoon. The body is in the care of the Keathley funeral home and funeral plans are not completed.

Atlas Awaits Test Firing at Missile Center

No Indication of When Intercontinental Rocket Will Soar

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — A giant intercontinental Atlas to-day joined the potent array of missiles awaiting test firing at the missile test center.

The Atlas could be seen through the superstructure of its gantry tower. But there was no indication when the 5,500-mile missile would be fired.

The last Atlas was launched here Jan. 10, and flew successfully hundreds of miles over the Atlantic.

An Army ballistic missile, possibly the Jupiter C which will try to put a satellite into orbit around the earth, also stood gleaming in its tower on the cape. Not far away was the Navy Vanguard, the satellite-carrying rocket, which is being prepared for another test launching.

Other smaller missiles were also on display standing on the Cape awaiting firing. The Navy Friday fired a Polaris test vehicle to test parts of the solid-fuel intermediate range missile under development.

The Air Force, meanwhile, announced that the first of five giant tracking antennae which will help bring back important data on missile test flights has been completed at Melbourne, south of Cape Canaveral.

The device, called a TLM-18 Automatic Tracking Telemetry Antenna, stands higher than a seven story building, is 60 feet in diameter and is mounted on a steel tower 38 feet high. It will be thoroughly tested before being put into use.

Hope Visit Means Unrest

LONDON — Iron-Curtain experts speculated today that Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev's secret visit to Poland this week may have been an effort to head off new unrest in the Soviet satellite state.

Recent arrivals from Poland said the pressure that blew off in the Poznan "bread and freedom" riots a year and a half ago are building up again — and this time, they said, resentment of Communist rule is nationwide.

They said the people have lost faith in Wladyslaw Gomulka, the "independent" Communist who took over in Poland after the Poznan outbreak, because they feel he is merely doing the bidding of the Russians.

Geologists to Attend Saline Tourist Meet

Dr. Jim Lee and Jack Nesheim, geologists who have been doing survey work for the Kaiser Aluminum Co. in southern Illinois, will answer questions about geology at the meeting of the Saline County Tourist Industry association at 2 p. m. Sunday at Mitchell-Carnegie public library.

Geology is of special interest to tourists in southern Illinois. The county group will elect officers at this meeting and scenic slides will be shown.

Kenneth Gray Files Nominating Petitions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Kenneth J. Gray, Democratic incumbent from West Frankfort, Friday filed his petition with the secretary of state for Congress in the 25th district.

Girl Gets 30 Years in Salem Killing

SALEM, Ill. (UP) — A young bride who said her murderer-husband bought her freedom from a life of prostitution today began a 30-year prison term in the slaying of a young Marine.

Trudy Jo Baker, 18, was only 16 years old when she and her husband, Robert, 27, Wormleysburg, Pa., shot a Marine as he slept in their car after soliciting a ride.

In handing down a guilty decision and sentence Friday, Circuit Court Judge Daniel Dailey said "the prosecution has presented a complete picture of an inexcusable murder."

Baker was sentenced to 99 years Wednesday in the death of Larry M. Kirk, 20, Winslow, Ind. Baker said they killed the hitchhiking Marine in a robbery attempt Dec. 22, 1956.

The Bakers had been married less than a week when Kirk was murdered. Mrs. Baker told the court Friday that she had become a prostitute at Well, Nev., but that Baker took her as his wife in a $100 transaction with the proprietor.

The young woman's mother, Mrs. Fern Saunders, Chicago, testified that her daughter was married for the first time in San Francisco when she was only 14 years old.

Mrs. Baker will be eligible for parole after 14 years. During that time, she said, she hopes to continue her education and "take care of mom after I get out."

Mrs. Libby Gidcumb Dies

Mrs. Libby Gidcumb, 76, wife of W. E. Gidcumb, RFD 3, Harrisburg, died in the Lightner hospital at Harrisburg, Friday at 10 p. m., following an illness of a few days duration.

Mrs. Gidcumb was born in Saline county May 13, 1881, and was the daughter of the late David and Sarah Ann Reynolds.

She is survived by her husband and the following children: Henry Gidcumb, RFD 3, Harrisburg;

Kenneth Gidcumb, Pontiac, Mich.; Frank Gidcumb, RFD 2, Carrier; and Mrs. Winnie Butterworth, and Mrs. Vivian Gribble, RFD 3, Harrisburg; Mrs. Lillian Ginner, Elgin; Mrs. Pansy Wallace, Ypsilanti, Mich.; 20 grandchildren; 9 great grandchildren and her sisters, Mrs. Hattie Bush, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Alice Fowler, Eldorado, and Mrs. Sally Travelstead, West Frankfort.

The body will lie in state at the Harrisburg funeral chapel and funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday in the Spring Valley church, where she was a member. Rev. George D. Jenkins and Rev. Carl Downey will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Palbearers will be Carl Teal, Billy R. Gribble, George Bruiletti, Onley Bush, Bennie Hudnell and Russell Johnson.

To Talk About Juvenile Crime At Frankfort

University of Illinois To Take Part in Enforcement Institute

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Community and county officials from the southern and east-southern Illinois area will join University of Illinois faculty members on the program of an Institute on Juvenile Law Enforcement Jan. 22 and 23 in City Hall, West Frankfort.

The Institute will be conducted by the Police Training Institute of the U. of I. Division of University Extension, and will be presented cooperatively by the University, the Illinois Youth Commission, and the Illinois Juvenile Officers' Association.

Col. Milan Pivsic, director of the Department of Public Safety, Park Forest, and president of the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police, will be the banquet speaker.

Other Speakers

Other talks will be given by Chief of Police George Dowling, East St. Louis, "Police Methods with Juveniles;" Prof. Charles H. Bowman, University of Illinois College of Law, "Laws Relating to Juveniles;" and "Philosophy, Organization and Duties of a Youth Bureau;" and Prof. Ralph England, U. of I. department of sociology, "Understanding Juvenile Behavior" and "The Social Meaning of Juvenile Gangs."

The remainder of the program will center on three panel discussions.

The first, led by Joseph E. Blaz, supervisor of Security and Traffic, U. of I., will be on "Methods of Interview of Juveniles." Panelists will be Asst. Chief of Police Harold Roberts, Alton; Chief of Police Frank T. Clifford, Cairo, and Patrolman Joe Rittenhouse, Juvenile Division, East St. Louis.

Second Panel Discussion

The second, led by Russell Emery, county superintendent of schools, Williamson county, will be on "Effective Youth Programs." Panelists will be County Judge A. R. Cagle, Williamson county; Chief of Police Roy Cole and City Judge Lon Haney, both of Herrin; William Gentry, supervisor, Illinois Youth Commission, and Superintendent of Schools Robert E. McKenney, Marion.

The third, headed by Judge Roy O. Guiley, District Two Circuit Court, will be on "Cooperative Efforts in the Solution of Juvenile Problems." Panelists will be Hon. Webb Johnson, Franklin County Court; Sheriff Paul Collins and State's Atty. Joe Hickman, both of Franklin County; and City Judge Frank Hannagan and Superintendent of Schools W. F. Patton, both of West Frankfort.

Ralph will present his essay as a part of the program of the annual meeting of the district at the Harrisburg Township high school on Tuesday night, Jan. 28.

Gallatin Soil Meet Monday, Speaker Is F. A. Weidhuner

The annual meeting and election of district directors of the Gallatin County Soil Conservation district will be held Monday, 1 p. m. at the Strand theatre in Ridgway.

Principal speaker will be F. A. Weidhuner, farmer from Greenville. He and his son operate a 500-acre farm and in 1948 the farm won first award in farm and improvements contest in the Central Illinois Land Use Council.

Mr. Weidhuner has made two trips to Europe and will dramatize his address with slides showing city and farm life in foreign countries.

The program, as announced by Alfred Rister, district chairman, will be opened with the invocation by Rev. L. C. Irby, followed by the welcome by Clyde Miner, manager of the Strand theatre.

There will be remarks regarding the Soil Conservation District by Mr. Rister, a solo by Betty Carol Harrington, talent find winner at the Gallatin County Farm Bureau meeting, the report by the nominating committee, presentation of soil conservation essay awards by Horace Brown, Gallatin county superintendent of schools, and report of cooperating agencies.

WILL RUN—Indiana's Gov. Harold Handley, at a press conference in Indianapolis, said that he would run for the office of U. S. senator, to fill the seat which will be vacated by Sen. William Jenner, who retires from politics. (NEA Telephoto)

Ralph Gass, Eldorado Student, Is County Winner Soil Essay Contest

Ralph Gass, student of the Eldorado Township high school, is county winner in the Soil Conservation Essay contest, according to announcement made today by Alva Gholson, president of the Saline County Soil Conservation District. He will be awarded a $50.00 savings bond in recognition of his achievement. The banks of the county are cooperating with the district in this activity by providing funds to the district to use in cash prizes and awards to the winners in the contest.

A first prize of $10.00 and a second prize of $5.00 was awarded to the two best essays written by students in each of the four high schools in the county after the county winner was selected from all of the essays submitted to the judges. The winners from each school are: Carrier Mills Community high school: Lowell Keel first, Leonard Smith, second; Eldorado Township high school: Jerry Woolard, first; Judith Forrester, second; Galatia Community high school: Ralph Gass, first; Don Owen, second; Harrisburg Township high school: Larry Taylor, first, and Charles Wright second.

The contestants made a tour of the Art Wintzer farm where they studied the soil types, erosion problems, and the conservation measures being followed on the farm. The information gained from this tour formed the basis for writing the essays.

Ralph will present his essay as a part of the program of the annual meeting of the district at the Harrisburg Township high school on Tuesday night, Jan. 28.

Mr. Gholson stated the district started the soil conservation contest about three years ago to cooperate with the schools in the teaching of agriculture to the students who will be responsible for the operation of our farms in a few years. He expressed the appreciation of the district to the high schools for their participation, to the banks for their contribution of funds to finance the contest, to the office of the county superintendent of schools for his help, and to those who gave of their time to judge the essays submitted. "Without the interest and help of all of these people the district could not successfully conduct this contest," he said.

May Hit Snag in Senate Where Byrd Is Strong

Would Raise Top From 275 Billion To 280 Billion Dollars

By United Press
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's request for a temporary boost in the national debt ceiling appeared today to be headed for passage in a House vote next Tuesday.

The bill is expected to run into some resistance in the Senate, where Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) heads a strong economy block. The Senate Finance Committee plans to take it up Jan. 27.

The measure got past its first hurdle Friday when it was approved overwhelmingly by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill, designed to give the administration more flexibility for defense spending, would raise the debt ceiling from 275 billion to 280 billion dollars.

Studying Pay TV

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) said he's "interested" in a proposal that his House Commerce Committee seek a halt in proposed pay television tests.

He said the committee will consider the suggestion by the National Association of Broadcasters after it finished hearings on pay TV, probably next week.

The Reserve Officers Assn. called on Congress today to restore to active duty all reserve officers recently "forced" out of uniform.

An ROA spokesman said in testimony prepared for delivery today before a House armed services subcommittee that the Pentagon applied a "meat-axe" to reservists who were required to leave the service. He said many of the officers involved had only a short time to go to qualify for retirement pay.

Twining Voices Protest

The subcommittee also planned to call Assistant Defense Secretary William H. Francis Jr. and Assistant Air Force Secretary David S. Smith.

Major developments in Congress Friday:

Defense: The Senate preparedness subcommittee released testimony by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, protesting treatment of military witnesses.

The heavily-censored transcript from Tuesday's subcommittee session showed that Twining called it a "hell of a note" that military leaders were being forced to criticize the defense budget. He said that under the "rules" of the military service such criticisms are practically insubordinate.

Missiles: Donald W. Douglas, chairman of Douglas Aircraft Co., told the preparedness subcommittee his company could start production of Nike-Zeus guided missiles as soon as it got a Defense Department "go-ahead."

The Pentagon announced Friday night that the Army had been ordered to develop the Nike-Zeus into an anti-missile missile capable of intercepting Russian rockets. It said the Air Force would have a radar detection system to spot invading missiles so they can be destroyed.

Farm: Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson ran into a buzzsaw of criticism from the Senate Agriculture Committee when he appeared to defend the administration's new farm program. Benson said after it was over he still thought the plan would "eventually" come to pass. But committee Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said they didn't stand a "ghost of a chance" in this session of Congress.

GI Fined

ATHENS — The first American serviceman to be tried by a Greek court under the Greco-American agreement was fined $120 Friday for reckless driving. Airman Richard Whitley of Ontario, Ore., was found guilty of knocking two Greek girls off their bicycles while driving at high speed. He paid the fine and was freed.

Hunt Trapped Coal Miners

PRICE, Utah — Rescue workers, weary from long hours of digging, kept methodically at their task today in an effort to reach two coal miners trapped by a giant cave-in and explosion.

Two bodies already were recovered from the collapsed tunnel of the Spring Canyon Coal Company's mine near here.

The cave-in Friday, followed by an explosion and secondary fire, extends nearly half-a-mile into the tunnel.

Because of the large area to be covered, rescue workers were doubtful that Keith Anderson, 30, and Dean Nielsen, 29, would be found alive.

Bodies of William Daniels 47, and Cecilio Garcia, 36, have been recovered.

Daniels and Garcia, along with Anderson and Nielsen, Daniels son-in-law, were working overtime removing old tracks and equipment when the tunnel collapsed with an earthquake-like bounce which dumped tons of coal, rock and debris on the men.

Mrs. Ida Lee Irby Dies at Eldorado

Ida Lee Irby, 68, died in the Eldorado nursing home at 9 p. m. Friday.

She had been a patient there for two or three years and prior to that time had operated a rooming house on North Fourth street in Eldorado.

She was the widow of Earl Irby and they had formerly lived in Pope county. Her only known relative is a second cousin, Mrs. Ethel Alley of Rockford.

There will be a graveside service at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Palestine cemetery of Pope county.

Keith Inquest Here Monday Night

An inquest into the death of Dale Keith, 20, killed while hunting rabbits Thursday, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the court house. Coroner James Thornton announced today.

Fescue Produces More Forage Than Bromegrass

URBANA—Illinois farmers should find tall fescue mixtures more productive than smooth bromegrass mixtures when cut frequently, as in pasture use, according to three years of tests just completed at the University of Illinois.

A. W. Burger, associate professor of agronomy, reported this research today (Thursday, November 21) at the 50th anniversary meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Atlanta, Georgia.

Burger said tall fescue mixtures produced almost a ton more forage on a dry-matter basis than smooth bromegrass mixtures when each was cut five times a season. This number of cuttings would be similar to use as pasture.

But when cut three times a season, fescue mixtures produced only three-tenths ton more per acre over the three years. This would be comparable to use for hay.

The tall fescue combinations produced more in late summer, regardless of how often or at what height they were cut.

According to Burger, the percent of legumes increased steadily each year in smooth bromegrass combinations, but decreased in tall fescue mixtures. This trend occurred regardless of number of cuttings. The amount of legumes was highest at a one-inch cutting height and lowest at four inches. When tall fescue mixtures were cut at four inches, legumes were completely eliminated by the third harvest year.

At the last harvest in 1957, the weed population averaged 44 percent in smooth bromegrass combinations, but only 24 percent in tall fescue.

Burger pointed out that in Illinois fescues are recommended only in the southern two-thirds of the state, while bromegrass can be grown in any part. Bromegrass is highly palatable in all stages of growth, while fescue becomes unpalatable in the mature stages. Tall fescue is very productive when cut frequently.

Apply By Jan. 31 for New Farm Corn Acreage Allotment

Any producer who intends to plant corn in 1958 on a farm where there was no corn acreage during the years 1955, 1956, or 1957 must apply for a corn allotment if he desires price support or if he wants to participate in any other phase of the Soil Bank Program other than the Acreage Reserve Program for corn in 1958, Edgar V. Thompson, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today.

Marketing quotas do not apply to corn, the chairman explained. However, under the present program, the production of corn in 1958 on a farm which has no corn acreage allotment would make the corn produced on such farm ineligible for price support in 1958 as well as affect his participation in the Soil Bank Program.

Application forms for a corn allotment are available at the ASC county office. January 31 is the last day such applications may be filed.

From the earliest colonial days until the establishment of the United States mint in 1792, no "official" coins were made in America. As a result, people had to rely on barter or foreign coins for commerce. The most popular foreign coins in use were the Spanish dollar or eight-reales, which was often cut into two, four or eight pieces or "bits" providing for smaller change, from which come the present-day slang phrases "two-bits," "four-bits," etc.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer
How are money lenders going to help the farmers meet problems of high investment in land and equipment and the rising costs of production while net farm income is dropping?

That was a challenge that furnished the discussion theme at a Farm Credit Workshop for two days last week at Southern Illinois University. Farmers were much in the minority among the 50 persons attending the event. Most participants represented various farm credit agencies such as commercial banks, the Farmers Home Administration, the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, and others.

Obviously, it is not possible to cover all the discussions in newspaper reports, nor is that the object in this column. Here are a few random observations, however.

One farmer made an apt observation that struck the audience as humorous but, at the same time, emphasized statements of two speakers who said that, in the final analysis, it is largely the individual farmer's responsibility to decide how much risk he can take in borrowing money or buying equipment on credit without going broke.

Said the farmer: "It looks to me as if we are the fellows who are being plotted against. The specialists tell us that we must use more fertilizer to get bigger crop yields, we need more or better animals and chickens, we must buy more land to use our labor and equipment more efficiently, or we need to modernize our operations by getting more machinery and changing our farm buildings if we are to keep ahead today."

"The equipment dealers say they have the answer and that we need another tractor or another piece of machinery which they offer on easy payment plans. The fertilizer salesman convinces us we must use his plant foods. As a result the farmer is bombarded with so many pressures to spend money that he gets all confused and doesn't know what to do or what he is able to do."

The lenders recognized the more serious implications in the farmer's observation. Here are a few comments:

The farmer, first of all, needs enough sales resistance to look at all the facts clearly and intelligently before making up his mind if he can afford the expenditure, that is whether or not the risk is too great for his capacity to pay. Don't be afraid of new ventures but be sure to find out all the true advantages and disadvantages that go with such a step, calculating the risks and the rewards by careful planning.

If the decision is in favor of going in debt to make the improvements or to acquire more land, confer with a reputable banking representative as to the best financing program. A farmer needs a carefully planned program before seeking a substantial loan.

Intermediate and long term credit are becoming more important in modern farming because of rising prices for farm land and the rapid technological improvements. Already are heard such startling suggestions as long term financing for capital investments in farming which will continue from one generation to another. However, the lenders are not ready for that kind of program, according to workshop discussion.

The lenders admit still being conservative—perhaps a little behind the present needs of agriculture—and they expect to hold to the idea for some years to come that a farmer should not use more credit than he can retire in an orderly manner by payments of interest and principal.

Egg Producers in Favorable Spot

Egg producers are in a more favorable situation than they have been for some time. Prices of henfruit were 5 to 10 cents a dozen higher this fall than they were last fall. Feed costs were a little lower.

Egg prices dipped sharply during late November and early December. But since a similar decline had occurred a year before, prices are still well above 1956 levels. There was also a similar decline two years ago.

The higher egg prices this fall were caused by a moderate decline in supply. Egg production was estimated to be about 5 percent less than in the fall of 1956.

The USDA forecasts that egg production in 1958 will be 2 percent below 1957. The decrease will be greater during the first half of the year and less or none at all in the last half.

The egg-fed price ratio was 13.6 in November compared with only 10.5 a year before. (This figure is the number of pounds of feed that is equal in value to a dozen eggs.) The 5-year 1951-55 November average egg-fed ratio was 12.4.

The favorable egg prices, if maintained, will bring about a substantial increase in the number of chickens raised for laying flock replacements. This need not necessarily lead to disaster, since some increase in number of chickens raised will be needed to replace the large number of hens being carried over for the second year. The number of hens and pullets on farms is also about 5 percent less than it was a year ago. Rate of lay usually increases a little each year, but this increase may be checked this year because of the large proportion of hens carried over in laying flocks.

There are some reports of consumer resistance to higher prices for eggs this year. If sales decline and stocks pile up, prices will be further reduced. It may be, however, that the reductions so far will provide sufficient sales to hold prices near recent levels for several weeks.

Farm Land Prices At All-Time High

SPRINGFIELD — Farm land prices reached an all-time high in Illinois in 1957, the State Agriculture Department said today.

The average value of farm land in the state climbed to $280 an acre in 1957, compared with $241 in 1956 and $230 in 1955.

Total value of all farm land in the state climbed from $7,300,000,000 in 1956 to $7,900,000,000 in 1957.

The department said the trend toward fewer and bigger farms was primarily responsible for the upward price pressure.

Smokey Says:

Evergreen Club Looks Forward to Valentine Tea

A Valentine tea to be held at the home of Mrs. John W. Towle on Feb. 11 will be an annual "Guest Day" meeting by the Evergreen Garden club. The forward look by the club, which held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. W. L. Cummins, 105 North Granger street, was to make some plans for this event. A backward look was given to the Christmas party, which was held at the home of Mrs. B. G. Funkhouser.

Mrs. Funkhouser was winner of first place in the club Christmas decorating contest. Her prize was a year's dues in the club. Mrs. Charles Farrar was second prize winner and she received a half year's dues remittance. These awards and the award of a door prize gave the January meeting a festive air.

Mrs. John Humm received the door prize, a wall plaque made by the club president, Mrs. Everett Stricklin, who presided.

This was a "Good Morning" party, held at 10 a. m. on January 14, and members came dressed in their favorite gardening outfits. If prizes had been offered for costumes several awards would have been needed.

Mrs. Towle program chairman, outlined coming events and refreshments were served. A variety of dainty homemade cookies, Coca Cola and spiced tea and coffee were served. Twenty-one were present.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

XXXIV
"No deals, Bennett. No, sir, I made a deal with Ambrose, and it didn't work," said Howell.
"Blackmail?" I asked.

"Ambrose knew I'd cut some corners on a government job and faked inspection reports. And he knew about some other stuff—income tax returns. I tried to be reasonable with Ambrose, paid him plenty to keep quiet, but, oh no, he had to keep hounding me, and harping about going to the F.B.I. So I got him drunk, pretended to be drunk myself, and steered him into my room and my bed. The ice pick went in real easy. I always carry one in my bag, along with a bottle opener, whisky and stuff."

"Do you carry two ice picks?"
"Now, just one," he said impatiently. "I got the one I used on the woman from the kitchen at the cottage. I had this gun—but when I sneaked in the back door I saw the ice pick on top of the ice box. So I used it." He peered at me curiously, squinting his little eyes. "How'd you know I wasn't in jail last night?"

I nodded at his shirt. "When they locked you up last night you were wearing a blue shirt. This morning you're wearing a green one. I began to wonder if you were in jail all night, after all."

"Well, well," he sneered. "Pretend smart, huh?"

I shook my head. "No. I almost missed it. This morning, I began to wonder about the bullet hitting the rock beside you yesterday afternoon. If somebody had been shooting to kill, he had all the time in the world to make a good job of it. But there was just that one shot. . . ."

As I talked I watched him, wondering how much chance I'd have if I made a dive for him.

"You ain't a bad guy, Bennett," he said. "You're just in the wrong business. You're right about the shirt. I got some of the woman's blood on the blue one, so I sneaked up to my room at the hotel and changed before I went back to the jail and let Campbell lock me up again. I wish I had a drink."

"Need courage?"

"Now—I don't take courage to kill somebody." He eyed me a moment, swaying gently, and then said, "I been leery of you ever since you came in my room and searched me the night I killed Ambrose. You thought I was dead drunk, passed out, didn't you?
Well, I wasn't, not as drunk as I acted. I wanted to be locked up, see? The first night and last night."

"So that's why you picked on Otto?"

He didn't answer. I wondered how long it would be before he got tired of talking.

"A lousy hundred bucks was Campbell's price," he sneered. "It looked like a grand to him, I guess.
So I set it up that first night. After he let me out all I did was go to a motel outside of town, slept a couple of hours and then went back to the jail, like I'd promised.
I knew I'd have to kill that woman, sooner or later, but I wasn't quite ready yet—I was just setting up my alibi, like I said. Well, Campbell wanted to give me back the money, said he'd been wrong to take it and let me out, that he must have been crazy. I took the money."

"Go on," I said.

"Well, last night after I got locked up like I wanted, I gave Campbell the same story. The business deal was still hanging fire in San dusky and I offered him the hundred again. But he'd really got religion and said nix, no more of that. Then I put the screws on him, told him I'd squeal about him letting me out the first night—and prove it by the guy at the motel where I stayed, the guy that ran it. I told him I'd tell the town council and he'd be out of a job.
He told me to shut up and left me in the cell."

He paused and laughed softly, remembering. "But I wasn't licked yet, no sir. I flopped on the bunk and after a while I began to groan and carry on, like I was sick. Campbell came back and looked at me, asked what was the matter. I kept groaning and moaning. He unlocked the cell door, and that was what I was waiting for. I jumped up and slugged him on the jaw, knocked him out cold. Then I locked him in the cell with his key, got my car from behind the hotel and scooted out here. I took down my gun rig from the tree and then went to Mariana Beach, found the woman alone and did what I had to do.
Inside of two hours I was back at the jail. I let Campbell out of the cell, told him I was sorry, but that I just had to see that man in Sandusky, and I offered him the hundred again. He wouldn't take it, and he didn't say a word."

I said suddenly, "Did you slug me, down on the pier, the first night I was in town? You could have, because you were probably out of jail by then."

He looked puzzled. "Slug you?
I didn't even know who you was until the next day."

I believed him. There was no reason for him to lie about it now.
"Well, Bennett," he said heavily,
"I want to get to that meeting at the sheriff's office and see what I can do for Wayne." You just won't show up, and nobody will ever see you again. I'll tell 'em you took me back to the hotel and drove away. You didn't say where you was going, which is the truth."

He laughed, a little wildly, and held the gun at arm's length. "I hate this, but I can't help it. How do you want I should do it? Like you are now, or do you wanna turn around?"

I heard my voice say, "I'm coming for you. Be sure and shoot straight."

Permit Foreign
Ships Into Port
At Midway Isle

AGANA, Guam (UP) — The U. S. government today authorized three foreign ships — two of them Russian — to put into the restricted port at Midway Island for emergency repairs.

The Russian ships reported Thursday they were in trouble in heavy seas 700 miles northwest of Midway. Shortly after, a third ship, the British freighter Ripley, reported she was running low on fuel because of severe storms.

Adm. Maurice Curtis, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, gave all three ships permission to enter Midway in view of their plight.

Civilian ships may not put into Midway because of security reasons except in an emergency. The Navy is building an installation there for its airborne early warning wing.

Foxx Tears Brim; Things Look Better

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK UP — If those weren't tears in Jimmie Foxx's eyes, he certainly must have sneezed awfully hard.

Big, bulky "Old Double X" was never much at showing emotion.
Even when bug-eyed baseball fans used to thunder down their applause over one of his mighty 450-foot home runs.

Today, though, he tried extra hard to come up with the right words.

"I didn't know there were that many nice people in the world," said the grateful 50-year-old former slugger. "Imagine all those folks going to bat for me?"

Didn't Need Help Then
There was a time, between 1925 and 1942, when no one ever had to go to bat for Foxx. Those were the years he starred for the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox.

When he hung up his spikes in 1945, he had a lifetime batting record of .325 and a total of 534 home runs that was second only to Babe Ruth's record 714. Later, he was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Foxx earned about $270,000 so it came as something of a shock when it was revealed earlier this week that he didn't have two dimes to rub together and faced eviction from his Miami, Fla., home.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

It is worse than many a disease.
It can make you old before your time.
It can even kill you.
And before it does, it can destroy all your happiness.
We know all that... why then, do we worry?
We worry because we have too many fears for our shallow supply of faith.
A man or woman needs faith enough to brush aside his fears.
God is ready to give you all the faith you need.
But you'll never get it worrying all week...
In Church next Sunday, you can renew and strengthen your faith. In so doing, you will be able to face life unafraid.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Fellowship of The Church'

Acts 2:42-47; Romans 15:1-9
GOLDEN TEXT: "And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." (Ephesians 4:32)

INTRODUCTION — Whenever you find a church family that is filled with love for one another, you are going to find a church that is growing in every way. For four years now it has been my joyous privilege to serve as pastor of just such a church family. In all of my experience as a pastor I have never seen anything anywhere to equal it. Never have I seen such love and cooperation. In four years I have not heard one word in anger spoken. Neither have I heard any gossip, backbiting nor tattling.

Because of this spirit of love and cooperation, God has added more than three hundred new members to our church family. He has blessed us financially far beyond our wildest dreams.

There is not any fellowship anywhere in this world like real church fellowship. Whenever people come together for worship the very presence of God can be felt. There is a fine sense of unity.

I. THE SPIRIT LED CHURCH (Acts 2:42-44a)

This first church family spoken of here in Acts was a spirit filled church family. Without this they could not have lived and made spiritual progress. They did "break bread together." It was "all that believed" who knew of the spiritual power. Without the Spirit, and without spirit led people, the church family would have been nothing more than a social club.

II. THEY SHARED WITH OTHERS (Acts 2:44b-46a)

They had "all things common." They placed their material possessions into one common storehouse out of which they all received their needs. Let it be clearly understood that this was not like modern day Communism in which people are forced to place all things into the common storehouse. The thing that took place there was absolutely on a voluntary basis. Those who sold property and placed the proceeds in the common treasury, did so voluntarily. They certainly were not forced to do so. It came out of a heart filled with love.

III. THEY WERE HAPPY (Acts 2:46b-47a)

My! what fellowship, and how they did enjoy it. They met together as a church family and "broke bread daily." Yes, they ate together. There is nothing wrong with the church family coming together and having a meal together at the church. It helps the fellowship among the people. Surely, this must not be overdone. The meal should be used as a means of convenience for getting the family together for planning and worship. Those early Christians were happy on such occasions just as church families are today. (Our church has a family night once each month.)

IV. THEY GREW (Acts 2:47b)

"The Lord added to the church such as should be saved." Please notice that it is the Lord who does the adding to the number in the church family. He alone can do this. Church families get themselves into a lot of trouble by adding to their rolls folks who are not truly saved.

We heard a business man say recently: "Well, I guess I will join that church. I am not really a Christian but that preacher wants me to join, and my wife and daughter attend there." That man will never help that church nor the cause of Christ. Why? Because God did not add him to the church family. He was merely added to the church roll by a man.

CONCLUSION (Romans 15:1-9)

God has taught us about His Son Christ through the Holy Bible. We have learned of His love and His sacrifice on Calvary's Cross. We are admonished that we should have the "spirit of Christ." Only as Christian people know that they have Christ's spirit dwelling in them, can there even be real Christian fellowship in any church family. When you find such a church fellowship, you find one which everyone enjoys, and many want God to add them to its number.

Early Wynn
An Early Sign

By United Press
Early Wynn, generally a tough customer to sign with the Cleveland Indians, proved easy as pie for the Chicago White Sox, who had his signature on a 1958 contract today calling for the same salary he received last season, approximately $30,000.

The 38-year-old righthander, obtained by the White Sox in a deal with the Indians last month, slumped somewhat last season with a 14-17 record but led the American League in strikeouts with 184.

Wynn, who won 20 games in 1956, signed his contract after a brief talk with Vice President Chuck Comiskey.

The St. Louis Cardinals signed former catcher Bill Sarni as a coach with their Rochester affiliate in the International League. Sarni suffered a heart attack while in spring training with the Giants last year and came back to serve as a coach with them late in the season.

Ridgway Beats Galatia to Capture GEC Tourney Title

A blistering 27-point fourth quarter carried the unbeaten Ridgway Eagles to a 71-62 victory over Galatia's Bearcats in the championship game of the Greater Egyptian conference tournament Friday night.

The consolation game was all Rosiclare as the Bears waited to an easy 72-51 decision over Cave-in-Rock.

The title tilt was the kind of a game fans expect, but seldom see, in a championship game.

Both Galatia and Ridgway were "up" for the game and played hard, and fast and shot accurately.

The score was knotted 13 times and the lead changed hands 21 times. And the fans stood and yelled and enjoyed every minute of it.

Roger Suttner, 6-11 1/4 Ridgway pivot man, who had a bad time in the semifinals against Rosiclare, paced Ridgway to victory with 21 points, played well off the boards and was strong defensively by deflecting attempted shots by the smaller Galatia players.

Game scoring honors were captured by Thornton Davis, Galatia's junior center with a fine 35-foot jump shot. He potted 23 points, including 11 field goals.

Ridgway scored first, with Clifford and Sanders co-operating for three points and with action rather slow there was only 2:55 left to play when the score was knotted at 4-4. But in the remaining time the pace quickened and when the period ended Galatia was on top 15-11.

Galatia had another 15-point second quarter and Ridgway collected 18 to make the score 30-29, Galatia, at halftime intermission. In the final two minutes the score was tied once and the lead changed hands four times in a basket exchange.

After three quarters Galatia still held the lead, 46-44, and the many fans had visions of an upset.

Galatia continued to stay even with the tourney favored Ridgway and with about three minutes left to go the Bearcats held a 55-53 lead. Then Ridgway broke the game open, holding a 18-7 scoring advantage in the final minutes of play.

Each club had three players in double-figure scoring—Joining Suttner for Ridgway were Ernie Clifford with 19 and Don Sanders with 17. Larry Jones, 12 and Philip Odle, 11, joined teammate Thornton Davis of Galatia.

Rosiclare, after being held to a 9-6 first quarter by Cave-in-Rock, began to move in the second frame and held a 36-22 advantage at halftime in the battle for consolation honors.

Carrier Mills Comes from Behind, Wins

Overcomes 8-Point Deficit Over Sesser In 55-54 Victory

Carrier Mills was eight points behind with only two minutes left to play but rallied for a 55-54 decision to stay in the ranks of the unbeaten Friday night.

The close call was at Sesser and CM Coach A. L. Willis calls the Sesser team the "best we have played this year and a team of unusually fine ball handlers." Their passing was terrific, Willis declared.

The winning basket was in the air when the horn sounded. With Sesser in front 54-53 and just seconds to go there was a jump ball situation. VanHoy got the tip for Carrier Mills, passed to Manier who uncorked a long one-handed. The ball was in the air when the horn sounded, arched into the basket and apparent defeat was turned into victory for the Wildcats.

County Tourney Reserved Chairs on Sale Monday

Reserved seats for the annual Saline County Basketball tournament at Davenport gym next Friday and Saturday nights will go on sale at the HTHS office Monday morning, Eltis Henson, HTHS principal and tourney manager, announced today.

Prices for each of the two sessions, during which two contests will be played a night, will be $1.00 for reserved chairs, 75 cents for adult general admission, and 35 cents for student general admission when the students have identification slips.

It will be a "blind draw" tournament. That means the four participating teams—Harrisburg Carrier Mills, Galatia and Eldorado—will not know which team will play until just a short time before the first game.

The drawings will be made at 6 p. m. Friday with teams drawing one and two playing the first game and those drawing the 3 and 4 the second.

The winners will play for the championship, preceded by the game for third place between the losers, on Saturday night. Trophies will be awarded first, second and third place winners.

Wildcats Tamed, 70-61, as Locals Outjump Bigger Boys; At Herrin Tonight

The smaller Harrisburg Bull Dogs, outbounding a much bigger Marion team, came up with their first South Seven conference basketball victory of the season at Davenport gym last night and travel to Herrin tonight for a tough encounter.

Herrin is the only team that has decisively beaten Coach John Dotson's boys this season.

Last night Harrisburg was up against a forward wall consisting of 6-5 Bob Dawe, 6-4 Bob Johnson and 6-2 John Shotton but the locals were jumping right along with the big boys and coming down with the ball. Kinch Jones did an especially good job in this department the first half, but all the players pitched in to do an outstanding job of rebounding.

The game was more decisive than the score indicated as Harrisburg held a 15-point margin in the last period before Coach Dotson put his reserves into action.

Outstanding in floor work was Ray Hassett, who also garnered 16 points for himself.

Ron Maynard, who sat out part of the game with a hand injury, was high scorer for Harrisburg with 17 points, and he and Hassett were closely followed by Pavelonis' 15.

For Marion, Swope, a guard, had 17 and big Johnson had 16. Six-five Dawe was held to six points.

The first quarter gave indication the game was going to be a fire-wagon battle as Harrisburg scored 18 points and Marion 17. But in the second period Harrisburg kept up its fast pace and Marion slacked to nine to give the Bull Dogs an 11 point margin of 37-26 at halftime.

The Bull Dogs had a little superiority in the third quarter as they outscored Marion 16-14 and ran up the margin decisively until the last stages of the game when Coach Wendell Starrick's Wildcats closed the gap a bit against the reserves.

The Marion team beat Harrisburg four points at Marion in December in a contest the Bull Dogs thought they should have won and last night they were out to prove they could do it.

It was a double victory last night as Coach Chester Caddas' Bull Pups beat the Wildkittens, 53-51, in a thriller.

Harrisburg was ahead 21-12 at the quarter but the Pups fell apart the second period as they scored but five points while Marion was hitting for 13, and at halftime the Pups led but 26-25.

Marion outplayed Harrisburg the third quarter and as the final period started led 40-36. Harrisburg staged a comeback, however, to win.

Banks was high for Harrisburg with 17. Kane had 16, Seten 8, Robertson 5, Hamilton 3, Aldridge 2, Shelton 2, Wise 0 and Baldwin 0.
